

RESIDENT

LUANN DE
LESSEPS
DEFINES CLASS

The New Year Edition

Investor's Corner: Where Should You Put Your Money?

In the Neighborhood: A Look at the Upper East Side

Dining Destinations that Delight

Beauty Resolutions for 2015

Haute Vacations Next Year

THE ORIGINAL CHIC AND ELEGANT RITZ CARLTON HOTEL

By Norah Bradford

The Ritz-Carlton Montreal offers its guests a sublime mixture of old and new. The only hotel in Quebec to be granted the CAA/AAA's prestigious Five Diamond Award, the Ritz-Carlton Montreal has also been named one of Condé Nast Traveler's Best New Hotels and Robb Report's Top 100 Hotels for 2013.

During an extensive $200 million restoration, the building's façade was preserved and restored, public spaces were renovated and redecorated, and rooms were redesigned with the utmost in luxury and comfort in mind. The Ritz-Carlton Montreal expanded and converted part of the historic building to accommodate a new residential wing, the Ritz-Carlton Residences. These 45 exclusive residences provide the opportunity to live at a renowned Montreal address, while enjoying the comforts and services of a luxury hotel.

The Ritz-Carlton Montreal has 98 guest rooms and 31 suites. The Royal Suite, at 4,700 sq.

ft, is the largest hotel suite in Montreal. The guest rooms feature high-tech amenities, such as intuitively remembering a guest's temperature preferences upon check-in, and motion sensors that activate lights to guide guests in a darkened room.

Guests of the Ritz-Carlton Montreal have access to a wealth of amenities – dining at Maison Boulud, enjoying afternoon tea in the hotel's impeccable garden, working out at the gym or lounging in the Palm Court. Nearby, Montreal's nightlife, boutiques and galleries, sporting events, theatre and other cultural attractions beckon. The hotel is in the heart of Montreal's best shopping district, where guests can find all the best international brands. Guests can even shop at the famed Tiffany & Co., which opened its 2000 sq. ft. boutique just below the Ritz-Carlton Residences.

Fine dining has been synonymous with the Ritz-Carlton Montreal since the turn of the century. Today, famed chef Daniel Boulud's Maison Boulud puts a modern spin on traditional French culinary tradition with a particular focus on local ingredients and artisanal Quebecois products. The chic and elegant Maison Boulud was designed as a counterpoint to the more traditional areas of the hotel by the innovative design team Super Potato who are internationally renowned for their cutting edge restaurant design.

For more information:
ritzmontreal.com